Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegel

Lectures on the History of Philosophy, Vol. 1 of 3 (Classic Reprint) Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegel Hegel swritings. In the case of the History of Philosophy, that difficulty is possibly enhanced by the fact that the greater part of the book is put together from the notes of different courses of lectures delivered on the subject at various times. Hegel, as we learn fromM ichelet, in his preface to the first edition of this work, lectured in all nine times on the History of Philosophy: first in Jena in 1805-1806, then inH eidelberg in 1816-1817 and 1817-1818, and the other six times in Berlin between the years 1819 and 1830. He had begun the tenth course on the subject in 1831 when death cut his la.bours short. It was only for the first course of lectures that delivered in Jena that Hegel fully wrote out his lectures; this was evidently done with the intention of future publication in book form. At Heidelberg he com posed a short abstract of his subject, giving in a few terse words the main points dealt with in each system of Philo sophy. In the later courses of lectures Hegel trusted to extempore speaking, but at the same time made considerable use of the above writings, the margins of which he annotated with subsequent additions. Besides these annotations he left behind him a large number of miscellaneous notes, which have proved of the greatest value. The present translation is taken from the second and amended edition of the Geschichte derP hilosophic published in 1840.
