Not illustrated. 1904 Excerpt: ...passage with her. It is said her sons often spoke of her, even before her death, as "Mother Saint." Mrs. Merica Oatman, widow of Pleasant Oatman, writes of her as follows: Mother Oatman was such a wonderful woman. I wish I could give you something of a history of her lovely life. I was married to her youngest son, in 1851, and lived inclose communion with her as long as she lived. She was a statesman and a historian. She could relate whole books she had read in her maidenhood. She and her father were present at a great tent meeting in Kentucky, when so many prominent Presbyterians broke away and declared against creeds and dogmas, and it was so interesting to hear her tell of the great sensation it caused. God answered my prayer when he put me under Mother Oatman's tutorship, who taught me to study the scriptures and be obedient to the commands. Mother never had a picture taken, but she so much resembled General Washington, that my eldest child, Villitta, in her childhood, would always exclaim when shown his picture, "That is my grandma." The first five of their children were born within a period of two years, four months, and fourteen days. The mother used to console her husband by quoting Solomon: "Many children are a great blessing." And so it proved to them, for there were no drunkards, thieves, or depraved among her twelve sons. Sixteen children were born to this couple, thirteen growing to maturity. They are named below as branches: America Dewees, 1 0 ot-ou-u,, f Twtns. Stmeon, Eliza Shields, j.'
